

PRICES

DELICIOUS

Flavoring Extracts

NATURAL FRUIT FLAVORS.

Vanilla - Of perfect purity.
Lemon - Of great strength.
Orange - Economy in their use.
Almond - Flavor as delicately
Rose etc. - and deliciously as the fresh fruit.

DR. T. FELIX COURAUD'S ORIENTAL CREAM OR FACIAL BEAUTIFIER.

Removes Tan, Pimples, Freckles, Moth Patches, Itch and Skin Diseases and every mark on beauty and complexion. It has been the test of so many women that it is a fact that it is the best of its kind. It is a beautiful cream and will use with a brush or finger. It is a beautiful cream and will use with a brush or finger. It is a beautiful cream and will use with a brush or finger.

SHE STANDS ALONE.

Farmers About Terrell can Raise Their Own Pork, Gravy, Molasses, Corn Cotton, Sweet and Irish Potatoes and no End to the Vegetables.

TERRELL, TEX., July 22.—Terrell is in Kaufman county, sixty-four miles east of Fort Worth on the Texas and Pacific railway running east and west, and the Texas Central railway running north and south. We have a splendid location for manufacturing purposes, or investments in any enterprise that can stand alone on its own strength. A better general variety of soil can hardly be found even in our great Texas. The population is mainly white, but several hundred negro voters are scattered throughout. Both races get along together without serious schism. They understand each other and find it always convenient and practicable to attend to one another's business and the opposing color ditto. The county is largely Democratic, citizens mainly Southern born and have Southern ideas of citizenship, education, refinement and economy; though there is a good sprinkling of Northern and foreign people having different political views. But it would be a strange thing if one could find another's politics by his daily walk and conversation. The fact is, politics is a side show in these parts. In this county a man may raise his own grain and molasses without much trouble, and in addition have corn, cotton, sweet potatoes (big ones in the sandy land), hay, fruit, vegetables and almost anything that grows elsewhere. Even cockle burs and snailshells are abundant here.

Terrell is a kind of nursery headquarters, a place where the biggest premiums are taken at the state fairs on hogs, cattle, horses, butter and general produce. Terrell used to have a banking house, the commercial center of the continent, but there is so much competition that our people have concluded to let that little thing alone and go to work making good things to eat for man and horse, and thus lead an agricultural and fine stock country, with the best schools, the best churches, the best men, best and sweetest women and children anywhere. It is really a strange thing that excursions do not come to Terrell often, unless it is that these excursions are made up of men who wish easy living, and who have plenty of money but can find no easy way to Terrell, but he must persevere somewhat in warm weather and endure the chill of winter. There is no livelihood here just by "roes up" as the school children have it, but there is soil here on easy terms to good farmers, that will yield readily to the touch of the tiller and in good time bring enduring wealth. Then the country is healthy, being a high elevation above the sea level, and free from the miasmatic influences of big streams and white bottoms. People generally live well, and there is not a case on record, that we know of now, where a farmer worked himself to death or died of starvation or sun grains. We do not have all one kind of soil. We have all sorts, nearly enough for the poorest and rich enough for the richest. No rocks or bottom lands of consequence, but the best of uplands. What we want you all to do is to come and see for yourself. Take nobody's word. Don't look for three rates stuck on a pole for every farmer, but look at the country like you would into a double-barrel shotgun, in a business and practical way, with cropping or fudging in the game. Take all your "rounds" and get, but take a fair shot and knock the middle man. We want men of horse sense, one that knows how to not eat corn or fodder until one can get a good crop of corn. We don't want to chop their bits and evaporate all the sap in their mouths before they get to the eating station, but go at things in a business way, believe a statement to be the truth when you prove it. When you chaw the bag you can tell whether it is puding. There are enough clerks, duties and so on, and we don't already to supply every position in the gulf of Mexico, and we haven't many either. We want farmers, men of capital, men of backbone, to benefit and uplift the country. So, if you have an idea of coming to Terrell, just write the city secretary, Terrell, Tex., and he will try and answer your questions.

REMEMBER.

as you lay plans to increase your business, that THE GAZETTE is read by 30,000 people every day. It goes into

THE HORSES.

The finest English and American horses at Anderson's horse store.

Subscribe for the WEEKLY GAZETTE.

Families using bottles can procure it at Pender Bros.

A Novel Entertainment.

This evening from 8 to 11 a soap bubble tournament and lawn fete will be given at the residence of J. W. McNaught, No. 614 South Elm street. All are invited. The Y. P. S. E., of the Broadway Presbyterian church. All are invited. Take Belt line car.

Leading Restaurant, The Arlington.

Kept by C. C. Hyde. Special delicacies, French cooking, and everything that families without a servant want. Ice cream and melons on ice at all hours. 102 Houston street.

Lost, a lady's gold open face, queen chain and program, "M. M." on the back. Reward for its return to the Gazette office.

We are the only first-class grocery in the city handling the Texas beer. Give us your orders.

PENDER BROS.

Teeth without plates. Dr. C. H. Martin, corner Fifth and Main streets.

DEAD IN THE POOL.

J. Wilkes Powell of Sedalia is Now a Corpse.

SUPPOSED TO HAVE FAINTED.

And Sank Beneath the Waters—The Action of the Coroner—How the Affair Occurred—The Body to be Shipped Home.

The body of a well built young man, clad only in the breech cloth used in bathing, lay upon the cement wall that surrounds the natatorium pool at 11:30 last night and an awe-struck crowd of men stood gazing at it with morbid curiosity as it lay stark and rigid, dripping with water from the pool.

It was the body of young J. Wilkes Powell of Sedalia, private secretary to General Superintendent J. J. Frey of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railway. It was at first supposed he had drowned, but the physician who examined the body gave it his opinion that death was caused from over-exertion, producing heart failure and that the young man was dead before he struck the bottom of the pool.

The exact manner of his death will never be known. He was missed from among the bathers in the pool and his friends supposed he had gone up to the dressing room. They called his name and knocked on the doors of the dressing rooms, but failing to receive any response, concluded he must still be in the pool. The alarm was given and divers were called for. Several volunteers, and one of them at the first dive struck the body. The grappling hooks were brought and the remains brought to the surface. The usual restoratives in the case of drowning persons were applied, but in vain, there being no water in the body.

This fact, coupled with the fact that the face and ears turned black, leaving the livid hue of a person who has been suffocated or hanged, and other indications known to the experienced eye of a physician, caused the medical gentleman who examined the body to express the belief that the cause of death was heart failure due to the heat and over-exertion, possibly on a full stomach, and that the life had departed before he reached the bottom of the pool. Justice McClung was sent for, and after looking at the body decided Powell had come to his death by drowning. Those in the pool at the time he must have sunk state there was no noise as would be made by a person drowning, and the body gave no appearance of a struggle as it lay floating on its back with limbs outstretched in the condition it was brought to the surface. The water was warm and there could have been no cramp, as the limbs were not bent, as would have been the case had that occurred.

General Superintendent J. J. Frey said that when he came into the natatorium pool passed along the north side of the pool, swimming slowly. He and Mr. Cross and Mr. Jones went to the dressing rooms on the opposite side and, undressed, going immediately into the pool. After they had been there a few moments some one said, "where's Powell?" They supposed he had gone to the dressing room and thought nothing of it. As he did not appear in a reasonable time they instituted search, but failing to find him concluded he was still in the pool. He has been with Mr. Frey five years and on two or three occasions had fainted. He was of a delicate constitution and Mr. Frey supposed that he over-exerted himself. He is the only support of a widowed mother, a lady of about sixty years of age. During a conversation Mr. Frey remarked that he should make it his business to see that she wanted for nothing as long as she lived.

A telegram was sent to the general offices at Sedalia conveying the sad news with the request to break it very carefully to the bereaved mother, and not to do so until morning.

The gentlemen in the party consisted of Mr. Cross, president and general manager of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railway; J. W. Maxwell, superintendent of the lines in Texas; M. Sweeney, master of transportation and James Turner of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railway and Col. Morgan Jones, president of the Fort Worth and Denver.

The body was embalmed last night and will be forwarded to Sedalia this morning. Immediately after finding the remains the sluice was opened and the water run off. Mr. Frey speaks very highly of the young man and was evidently more than ordinarily attached to him. He was a member of the association and had caused him to value his private secretary very highly, and he feels the loss almost as keenly as if the young man had been his brother.

LOCALES.

There will be a sociable at the residence of Mr. Morgan, Samuel avenue, given by the W. R. C. this evening at 8 o'clock. G. A. R. and sons of veterans invited to attend.

J. Lewis and Miss Emma White were granted permission to wed by County Clerk King yesterday.

Railroad postoffice service on trains 3 and 4 of the Texarkana and Laredo line has been extended to Longview, Tex., making double daily service from Longview to San Antonio.

The funeral of the late Dr. G. W. Magruder will take place this morning from his late residence, 408 East Weatherford street, at 10 o'clock to the First Presbyterian church. Interment at the old cemetery. Friends of the family are invited.

Confederate Veterans—The executive committee appointed to make preparations for the reunion of ex-Confederates on the 11th of August will meet at the courthouse this evening at 8 o'clock. All members will please attend promptly. K. M. VAN ZANT, Chairman, JOHN W. FRENCH, Acting Secretary.

That New Bridge.

The honorable members of the city council and all other citizens who are interested in the matter of the bridge to be built across the river on the waterworks are most cordially invited to examine the model, plans, etc., together with the indentments of the Eddy steel wire suspension bridge which are open to inspection in the office of J. P. Anderson & Co., room 3, Powell block, from 8:30 to 6 p. m. any week day.

Texas Brewing Company, bottled beer by the house of dozen at Pender Bros.

A FAIR SCHEDULE

of advertising rates, such as THE GAZETTE adheres to, treating every man alike, is better than high rates cut in two for the benefit.

OF FAVORITE CUSTOMERS.

Under new management and settling the finest table in Texas, the business rooms the headquarters for the commercial men and stockmen to visit our city.

PERSONAL.

R. E. Chandler and John L. Williams of Rockwall, Tex., are registered at the Ellis.

John A. Lee of King county, Tex., is registered at the Ellis.

Morgan Long, arrived from Atlanta, Ga. this morning on a visit to her sisters.

S. B. Allen of Cleburne is registered at the Pickwick.

C. T. Leverett, Cameron, Tex., arrived in the city yesterday, and will remain a day or two.

W. H. Bragg, Wichita Falls, Tex., is a guest at the Pickwick.

Messrs. J. A. Murphy, A. W. Hughes, J. C. Haven, Tom Onstott, Bob McQuaid and Paul Alterman of Dallas were in the city yesterday and returned home singing the praises of Fort Worth beer.

Mrs. C. M. Templeton leaves to-day for a month's visit to relatives at Winsboro, Tex.

HARVEST EXCURSIONS

SECURED BY THE TEXAS REAL ESTATE ASSOCIATION.

Through Trains Will be Run from Memphis, Bringing People from the Southeastern States.

WACO, TEX., July 21, 1891.

To the Gazette.

In today's GAZETTE appears an article from my friend John Howard under the caption, "What is Texas Going to Do About It?" Referring to what the people of Texas are doing to secure cheap excursion and home-seekers' rates to Texas, our John says that they are doing "simply nothing." Our John is a little mistaken in his statements, but because of his lack of information on the subject. Texas real estate association, organized of more than five hundred progressive real estate dealers and agents, organized solely to advertise and develop Texas and promote immigration to the state, has worked for months for home-seekers' excursions to Texas, using all honorable means to accomplish this, and when during the spring the efforts of the association were rewarded by securing the announcement of a series of one-fare excursions from the old states to Texas for the months of May, June, July, August and September, one of our own Texas roads made such objections and threats that these rates were withdrawn. Be it said to the credit of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railway company and the Cotton Belt route, that they not only were anxious for these excursions, but industriously advertised them. After exhausting all our efforts to restore these rates without success, this association has arranged for running home-seekers' excursions on August 19, September 2, October 6 and November 13 from the southeastern states via the Little Rock and Memphis railway and Cotton Belt route. Through trains will be run from Memphis to Fort Worth and Waco, and tickets will be sold at any point in Texas. Tickets will be sold at regular first-class or immigrant rates, but they will come under a contract that in the event any excursionist purchases more than one ticket, a member of the association to the extent of $500 his return fare to his home will be paid him to the extent of $20. The railroad is advertising these excursions throughout the Southeastern states, and a number of their best passenger cars have been put out to work up business for these excursions. I have had personal information from more than 100 people in Mississippi and Tennessee, who have informed me that they would come out on August 19. While my friend Howard and the citizens of Dallas are desiring the proper thing, which is very patriotic on their part, at the same time the progressive real estate dealers throughout Texas are working for Texas, too, and that most energetically. The excursions named above are given to start the movement, and the same plan will be adopted on every road running into Texas. "Give the devil his dues," and let us all work together. A long pull and a pull altogether, and our efforts will be good fruit. Great would Texas soon be had she more John Howards and cities like Dublin. Sincerely,

C. S. HARDY.

WACO, TEX., July 20, 1891.

To the Members:

At the last meeting of the board of directors the secretary read a proposition from the St. Louis Southwestern railway company to break it into two parts.

That in view of the fact the various railroad companies interested would not agree to the running of the home-seekers' excursions to Texas this year, many people desiring to buy property in Texas, and that Texas would not have the opportunity to do so unless some other means be adopted.

Following this, and the statement that the home-seekers' excursions could not be run without the agreement of all lines of interest, which now appeared impossible, the company made the proposition to advertise throughout the country excursions to Texas, using all the means at their disposal, and putting their agents into the field to work up interest. Said excursions to be run for the association, from Memphis, at regular rates. But to encourage people to take advantage of the excursions, the members of the association selling property to any excursionist to the amount of $500, to pay to the association the amount of his return fare to the extent of $20 toward said return fare.

The board, realizing this to be the only thing at present in sight that would assist in the settlement of the state, accepted the proposition and instructed the secretary to close the details and to secure propositions of the same kind, if possible, from other lines. The secretary was authorized to contract drawn and signed by such members of the association as are in good standing agreeing thereto, obligating them to pay to such excursionist the amount of his return fare to the extent of $20 toward said return fare.

The secretary is authorized to sign and publish regarding said excursions, giving the contract in full, with the names and addresses and amount of property for sale, and where located, by each member signing the contract. When the contract is returned signed by him it will be signed to you by name, etc., will be signed to the one for publication in such literature.

Excursions have been arranged for August 19, September 2, October 6 and November 13 from Memphis to a point in Texas. Fifty thousand flyers regarding these excursions will be printed August 1. So if you want your name to appear in this flyer, you must return this contract signed, without changes, at once. Below the signature of the members who sign these contracts will be published a certificate of indorsement from banks and state offices.

The railroad company believe these excursions will be successful, and they think 300 people will come into the state on the first one. I know of a party of Mississippians numbering thirty-six, who have representative personally informed me that they would accept the proposition, and one or two other parties in Tennessee will come, which will swell the number to 100 who have already agreed to come. These people are merchants and business men as well as farmers, and they will come prepared to buy property to the extent of $500. These excursions from the Southeastern states prove successful, others will be run from various parts of the country. If you sell nothing, you are out nothing, and if you only $500 worth of property your commission will be more than covered by the money that you pay the excursionist. In many instances the return fare will not amount to $10, and under the contract you do not pay more than that.

From Waco to Memphis, for instance, the fare is $17. You divide commissions under this contract with no one, and should round trip one-fare rates be given later during the year, this proposition will not apply to persons coming by such excursions, for the contract expressly provides that this proposition is to reduce the whole fare to a fare equal to the round trip rate.

Your secretary has been to Chicago, St. Louis, Memphis, and other points, going before managers and associations in the interest of cheap excursions, rates, and he regretfully has to say that up to the present time one of our own Texas lines' absolute objection and threats have prevented the usual excursion rates for 1891, and the plan here proposed is the only thing at present in sight that will save anything to us.

Please sign the contract and return it promptly. The flyers must go to press August 1, and a few days later your secretary will join half a dozen passenger agents in drumming up business for the August excursion to Texas, the Mississippi, and he will see that each excursionist has a card of introduction to the members of the association where he is going. Awaiting your early reply, I am yours faithfully,

C. S. HARDY, Secretary.

Summer Home for Horses.

In our large box stalls and open parties leaving the city, and a cheap and safe place to leave their horses.

POLK BROS.

There is going to be an ice cream party for the benefit of the Scandinavian M. E. church to-night at 8:15 West Broadway.

Specialists in Medicine.

All the progressive tendencies of the day in medicine are toward specialization. Among the most expert and skillful Dr. J. A. Hunter of New Orleans stands pre-eminent as a throat and lung specialist. Many years ago recognizing the fact that all the usual means of treating diseases of the passages by swallowing drugs was unphilosophical as well as unsuccessful, he used medicated oxygen and chlorine inhalations largely in his practice, and his success has been remarkable, not only in curing his patients, but also in bringing about in the medical practice of the day a general recognition of the value of such remedial means.

WACO, TEX., July 20, 1891.

The Scholarship.

We have no candidate, but we have votes to give our customers.

80 with a $2.00 shoe.

25 with a $1.00 shoe.

20 with a $1.00 shoe.

10 with a $1.00 shoe.

5 with a $1.00 shoe.

LOGAN & EVANS.

BASEBALL BRIEFS.

Grin is looked upon as one of the bright lights of the major league. Anson recently offered $1,000 for him.

W. B. Franklin, of Lancaster, Pa., has been elected president of the Yale Baseball association.

Gilliland, the left handed pitcher, who did good work for New Haven, has gone to Denver.

Sam Brouthers, of Boston, is keeping up his reputation as a batsman.

Henry Chadwick, the famous baseball writer, is nearly seventy years old, but he still turns out an immense quantity of good baseball copy every week.

The Late J. M. Emmet.

The late Fritz Emmet invested much of his money in government bonds and always made his purchases through Rufus Haisch, the famous financier. He was dead and swarthy, notwithstanding the fact that he made up on the stage as a blond German. He could always recognize acquaintances in the audience, and generally indicated it in some way, but so delicately that the person recognized was almost certain to be the only one to detect the attention.

The largest audience he ever appeared before was 2,000 in London. The smallest was in Columbus, O., where he played the first matinee the town had ever known, and only one person went to see him. The performance was carried through as carefully for the one man in Columbus as it was for the 2,000 in London. He once presented Anon Cummings (who was then a reporter) with a pair of diamond cut buttons because Cummings wrote kindly of him when others were abusing him.

You Get Show with Your Coupons.

From to-day we give 50¢ with every dollar bought.

LOGAN & EVANS.

"THE BALL THROWER."

Sculptor Douglas Tilden's Handsome Present to San Francisco.

The baseball player has long been immortalized in the public prints, but it remained for Douglas Tilden, a dead man's sculptor of San Francisco, to immortalize him in bronze. Not long ago he completed a handsome statue entitled "The Ball Thrower." The statue is of the city of San Francisco. The figure is of life size and is mounted upon a red granite base and a Menomonee sandstone pedestal four feet high. The site of the statue is south of the Garfield monument in San Francisco's park. A few baseball cracks claim that the pose of the figure is not so technically correct that the bronze thrower would ever be mistaken for a real one. The "Baseball Thrower" is in the box, but in other respects the sculptor's work is highly complimented.

THE BALL THROWER.

THE BALL THROWER.

THE BALL THROWER.

THE BALL THROWER.

THE BALL THROWER.

THE BALL THROWER.

THE BALL THROWER.

THE BALL THROWER.

THE BALL THROWER.

THE BALL THROWER.

THE BALL THROWER.

THE BALL THROWER.

THE BALL THROWER.

THE BALL THROWER.

THE BALL THROWER.

THE BALL THROWER.

THE BALL THROWER.

THE BALL THROWER.

THE BALL THROWER.

THE BALL THROWER.

THE BALL THROWER.

THE BALL THROWER.

THE BALL THROWER.

THE BALL THROWER.

What is Cottolene?

Cottolene is a pale yellow material of the consistency and texture and substance of lard. It approximates to the color of natural butter. It is without odor and has a neutral flavor to the taste. Cottolene is a simple preparation of cottonseed oil and beef suet. It contains no other material. It contains no salt, mustard and no coloring matter. It meets the public demand for a pure, healthful, digestible substitute for swine fat.

The name Cottolene, registered in the Patent Office and is fully protected. All persons are hereby warned against infringement, and imitations will be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law.

HOW TO USE COTTOLENE.

Directions are clear and simple. Use Cottolene exactly the same as lard, but use only one half the quantity of Cottolene that would be required of lard. Remember Cottolene is the same price as lard and thus you save just half your money.

N. K. FAIRBANK & CO., St. Louis, Mo.

at present in sight that will save anything to us.

Please sign the contract and return it promptly. The flyers must go to press August 1, and a few days later your secretary will join half a dozen passenger agents in drumming up business for the August excursion to Texas, the Mississippi, and he will see that each excursionist has a card of introduction to the members of the association where he is going. Awaiting your early reply, I am yours faithfully,

C. S. HARDY, Secretary.

Summer Home for Horses.

In our large box stalls and open parties leaving the city, and a cheap and safe place to leave their horses.

POLK BROS.

There is going to be an ice cream party for the benefit of the Scandinavian M. E. church to-night at 8:15 West Broadway.

Specialists in Medicine.

All the progressive tendencies of the day in medicine are toward specialization. Among the most expert and skillful Dr. J. A. Hunter of New Orleans stands pre-eminent as a throat and lung specialist. Many years ago recognizing the fact that all the usual means of treating diseases of the passages by swallowing drugs was unphilosophical as well as unsuccessful, he used medicated oxygen and chlorine inhalations largely in his practice, and his success has been remarkable, not only in curing his patients, but also in bringing about in the medical practice of the day a general recognition of the value of such remedial means.

WACO, TEX., July 20, 1891.

The Scholarship.

We have no candidate, but we have votes to give our customers.

80 with a $2.00 shoe.

25 with a $1.00 shoe.

20 with a $1.00 shoe.

10 with a $1.00 shoe.

5 with a $1.00 shoe.

LOGAN & EVANS.

BASEBALL BRIEFS.

Grin is looked upon as one of the bright lights of the major league. Anson recently offered $1,000 for him.

W. B. Franklin, of Lancaster, Pa., has been elected president of the Yale Baseball association.

Gilliland, the left handed pitcher, who did good work for New Haven, has gone to Denver.

Sam Brouthers, of Boston, is keeping up his reputation as a batsman.

Henry Chadwick, the famous baseball writer, is nearly seventy years old, but he still turns out an immense quantity of good baseball copy every week.

The Late J. M. Emmet.

The late Fritz Emmet invested much of his money in government bonds and always made his purchases through Rufus Haisch, the famous financier. He was dead and swarthy, notwithstanding the fact that he made up on the stage as a blond German. He could always recognize acquaintances in the audience, and generally indicated it in some way, but so delicately that the person recognized was almost certain to be the only one to detect the attention.

The largest audience he ever appeared before was 2,000 in London. The smallest was in Columbus, O., where he played the first matinee the town had ever known, and only one person went to see him. The performance was carried through as carefully for the one man in Columbus as it was for the 2,000 in London. He once presented Anon Cummings (who was then a reporter) with a pair of diamond cut buttons because Cummings wrote kindly of him when others were abusing him.

You Get Show with Your Coupons.

From to-day we give 50¢ with every dollar bought.

LOGAN & EVANS.

"THE BALL THROWER."

Sculptor Douglas Tilden's Handsome Present to San Francisco.

The baseball player has long been immortalized in the public prints, but it remained for Douglas Tilden, a dead man's sculptor of San Francisco, to immortalize him in bronze. Not long ago he completed a handsome statue entitled "The Ball